PROFILE

Hello, I'm a 17-year-old developer with a real passion for technology. Since building my first PC at 10, I've spent years learning about hardware, creating websites, writing code, and using AI tools to turn ideas into practical solutions.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Web Developing

I design and build custom websites for clients, managing the whole process from the first conversation through to launch, including domain setup, hosting, and content. I focus on responsive design, SEO optimisation, and clean, user-friendly interfaces. I also use AI tools to speed up development, fix issues, and improve the final result. Working directly with clients has helped me learn how to deliver work that matches both their goals and their vision.

PC Builder & Hardware Technician

I've been building and setting up custom PCs since I was 10, from choosing components to BIOS setup and operating system installation. Over time I've gained strong hands-on experience with peripherals, cable management, display connections, networking, and troubleshooting. I also regularly help friends and family with upgrades, software problems, and general IT support.
